Reds seek airing of OAS move

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The Soviet Union Monday demanded an immediate meeting of the U.N. Security Council to ratify a resolution by the Organization of American States condemning the Dominican Republic for alleged plots against Venezuela.

Vasily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet first deputy foreign minister and acting head of the Soviet delegation, made public the demand in a letter sent to Egidio Ortona, Italian ambassador who is president of the Security Council for September.

The letter noted the OAS resolution of Aug. 20 condemning the Dominican Republic for its moves against Venezuela and cited the diplomatic break that followed.

Kuznetsov, in a move to put the Soviet Union in the middle of American hemisphere affairs, said the Security Council should meet to approve the OAS decision.

He argued that no enforcement action should be taken by regional agencies without authorization of the Security Council.

Davis said a number of paintings by American artists worth a total of $80,000 were lost.

This was the club's third clubhouse to be destroyed by fire. Earlier fires occurred in 1907 and 1927.

42 escape as clubhouse is hit by fire

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP)—A pre-dawn fire destroyed the clubhouse of the Greenwich Country Club Monday, routing 42 persons from their beds. Damage was in the vicinity of one million dollars.

Kenneth Slinger, a resident of the club, alerted the other occupants when he smelled smoke. All fled the three-story structure safely. Firemen had to help one elderly couple from a second-floor room by ladder.

Three firemen were injured when a wall blew out in the basement as they were searching for the source of the blaze. Six others of the 100 firefighters were overcome by smoke.

Fire Chief Stuart M. Potter estimated damage at between $750,000 and $1 million. Said Forest Davis, general manager of the club: "You couldn't replace it for $ 1/2 million dollars."

Heart attack claims Long of Louisiana

Galveston.

A court hearing got him out of the Texas hospital on his promise that he would enter a New Orleans hospital. This promise he fulfilled—for a few hours—but he slipped out and sped toward his beloved governor's chair in Baton Rouge. His wife had acted more quickly, and he was arrested en route.

Cracking Whip

But again, after a few political manipulations, he was out and again cracking the whip over the state.

The ordinary was extraordinary for Earl Kemp Long, for he did nothing ordinary. He tried to defy state law, prohibiting a governor from succeeding himself, by announcing he would resign shortly before his term ended to run again. His boast fell through, and he tried for the lieutenant governor's office but lost badly.

He came back to the political scene just a few weeks after his term closed and ran for the congressional seat once held by his late brother George. He battled McSwain into a runoff and won by almost 4,000 votes.

Strip-tease Affair

Things were anything but quiet in Louisiana, with Earl in the mansion. He battled "them lying newspapers," particularly the big city papers such as the New Orleans Times-Picayune, and his af-airs with strip-tease Blaze Starr had the state chuckling.

Long's wife filed for separation shortly after his confinements in the mental hospital, and he entered a counteraction. They never publicly reconciled, but he was seen with her many times after the break.

He toured Western states and parts of Mexico after his confinements. Wherever he went, Earl Kemp Long left his mark.

His energy was boundless, despite doctors' orders for him to take things easy. He suffered his first heart attack while chasing a hog on his beloved "pea patch" farm near Winnfield and had been under close scrutiny by heart specialists for several years.

Fast With Dollar

Long was a fast man with a dollar and had a philosophical outlook on money and death.

"If I'm going where I hope to go, I won't need it. And if I go any place else, it'll burn up anyway."

The choice of his successor had political circles buzzing. There were reports that McSwain, Mrs. Long and State Sen. Speedy Long, a distant cousin, were in the running. The 8th Dist.'s Democratic Executive Committee will meet to name the nominee. Long had no Republican opposition in the November general election.

The Institute of Life Insurance reports U. S. life insurance company papers have a total investment in real estate of $3.78 billion.

Lodge launches 'beach campaign'

JONES BEACH, N. Y. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge campaigned among thousands of bathers on the Long Island beaches Monday.

The Republican vice presidential candidate was accompanied on a helicopter tour by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who made the eating of culinary specialties a campaign fashion in 1958.

Rockefeller won wide attention by eating cheese blintzes in campaign strolls along New York's lower East Side. The itinerary Monday was from Manhattan to Jones Beach, and then to Rockaway Beach and Coney Island.

Lodge and Rockefeller, accompanied by New York State Atty. Gen. Louis K. Lefkowitz, were mobbed by Labor Day throngs.

Rockefeller appeared to enjoy the campaigning as much as though he himself were a candidate.

Lodge was campaigning both for himself and for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who is confined to Washington by a knee infection.

Lodge and Rockefeller at times scarcely could move through the crowds of bathers. They inched along shaking hands, patting babies and expressing thanks for the welcome.

They landed by helicopter at Jones Beach, where the grounds swarmed with the Jones Beach Coast Guard station at Wantage. Hundreds of per-didate and the governor.
