

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

Son of Ex-Gov. Pinchback of Louisiana in Serious Trouble,

Newark, N. J., Feb. 9—Eugene E. Pinchback, son of former Gov. Pinchback of Louisiana, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Bigelow yesterday on a charge of forgery. He was remanded until Wednesday to await the action of the Federal authorities in Brooklyn, who want him on a serious charge.

Pinchback was arrested last November for improper use of the mails in sending a series of forged checks drawn on members of his family and friends in Illinois. He is a graduate of Harvard, 1892. In that year he was admitted to the bar of Mississippi and in 1893 to the bar of Illinois. He left Chicago late in 1903 because of alleged irregularities in his practice. He says that his downfall was due to drink.
