

SANDERS FUNERAL TO BE HELD TODAY

Services to Be in Baton Rouge, Burial in Franklin

Funeral services for Jared Young Sanders, former governor of Louisiana and bitter opponent of the late Huey P. Long, will be held in Baton Rouge today at 9 a. m. with the Rev. J. A. Christian, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating.

The services will be held at the home of the former governor's son, J. Y. Sanders, Jr. Interment will be in Franklin at 3 p. m., at which time Masonic rites will be conducted.

Palbearers will be Archie M. Smith, supervisor of public funds, who was appointed supervisor of public accounts by Sanders when that office was created; Martin L. Close, director of finance; Amos K. Gordon, retired vice-president and treasurer of Standard Oil of Louisiana; Dedic H. Gill, Kentwood; W. A. Garnier, Amite; Representative William H. Carter, Hammond; Edward Hastel, New Orleans, former member of Sanders' law firm, and W. C. Perault, first assistant attorney general.

Tribute to Sanders was paid on the floor of the United States House of Representatives Friday by Congressman F. Edward Hebert of New Orleans. He said Sanders was "one of the most beloved and colorful figures in Louisiana politics," adding that Louisiana has lost a great character, both personally and politically, and our state will miss the name of J. Y. Sanders, Sr., in the future.

Sanders served as governor of Louisiana from 1908 to 1912 and was a member of the House from 1917 to 1921. He served in the state legislature, and as lieutenant governor before being elected to the governorship. He died Thursday night in Baton Rouge at the age of 75 years.

Offices Will Close as Sanders Tribute

Baton Rouge, La., March 24.—All offices in the state department will be closed tomorrow, Saturday, March 25, in respect to former Governor J. Y. Sanders, who died here last night, it was announced tonight by Lee Laycock, personal secretary to Governor Sam Jones, who is on vacation in Mexico.

Laycock added that flags will be lowered at half-mast tomorrow, all over the state.

Bookie Suspects Raided by Police

Three men were arrested for operation of handbooks and 23 others were booked with loitering Friday when police raided two establishments.

Officers attached to headquarters staff about 4 p. m. raided Sal's Beer Parlor, 429 St. Charles street, and after confiscating $55 in currency and a quantity of race horse paraphernalia, arrested Salvador Pizzo, 46 years old, of that address, and Homer Acuff, 47, 420 Bourbon street. They were booked at the First Precinct station with operating handbooks and accepting bets on race horses.

They also booked with loitering 19 men who were found in the establishment.

At about 5 p. m. the officers raided the rear of the Omaha Beer Parlor, 317 South Rampart street, arrested Charles Solodano, 37, 1121 Lafayette street, and booked him on charges of operating a handbook. They also confiscated $47 in currency and race horse paraphernalia, and arrested and charged with loitering four Negroes found in the rear of the beer parlor.

NEW ORLEANSIAN BACK FROM GERMANY—Miss Marguerite Wartel, formerly of New Orleans, is shown here Friday as she displayed a pair of wooden shoes which she wore while being detained by the Nazis in Baden Baden, Germany.

Diplomatic Refugee Tells of Gestapo Guard in Reich

Miss Marguerite Wartel Describes Refugees Here

Miss Marguerite Wartel, one of a group of diplomatic prisoners, detained for 13 months by the Germans at Baden Baden, was revealing Friday in being able to come and go as she pleased without the Gestapo dogging her footsteps.

"Every time we went to the dentist, the Gestapo came along," she recalled. "Every time we went to a doctor, there was the Gestapo. They trailed us to the hairdresser, went shopping with us and accompanied us on our afternoon walks. They nearly took a fit if they thought we were going to talk to some of the natives. I suppose they were afraid the German people might find out from us what was actually going on in the rest of the world."

Was Consulate Employee
Employee of the American consulate at Lille, France, when war broke out, Miss Wartel arrived in this country recently aboard the refugee ship Gripsholm and will spend the next month visiting her friend Mrs. Walter Rackie, 8019 Frig street. Although a native of France, she made her home in New Orleans for many years and at one time was employed in a secretarial capacity at The Times-Picayune.

She was one of a group of 147 French and Americans detained at the Brenner Park hotel in Germany after Americans took over in North Africa.

"At a certain time every night the Gestapo would come in and turn on a big radio in the hotel lounge," she said. "It was the only one we could listen to and we weren't allowed to touch it. Not that we wanted to—all it ever broadcast was a lot of German blah-blah by Lord Haw Haw! And a lot of bragging about German victories."

They had no sooner got settled in their enforced quarters, the visitor said, than they decided to organize a school.

Started Up School
"Slips of paper were passed around and we were each asked to write down what we could teach. I taught English to the French women."

"In a few days we had things humming with a newspaperman in charge. We had classes in French, English, Spanish, Russian and Italian; lectures on American history, English history and American literature."

"The children detained at the hotel were most fortunate since there were only nine of them and they had 27 professors," she said. "We also had two children too young to go to school and four people over 70. Before we left the hotel, a baby was born. As a

FATHER MICHAUD DIES AT HOSPITAL

Services Will Be Conducted at Cathedral

The Rev. John Baptist Michaud, assistant pastor of St. Charles church, Lafourche, and former member of the Maine House of Representatives, died Friday at Hotel Dieu of a heart ailment. He was 40 years old and was stricken on a visit to New Orleans during the past week.

Funeral services for Father Michaud will be conducted Monday at St. Louis Cathedral. At 10 a. m. the clergy will chant the Office of the Dead and at 10:30 a. m. Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel will be the celebrant of a solemn pontifical mass. Red Cross tickets as cheese, correspondents and a group of Quakers."

Following the services, the body will be sent to Father Michaud's home, Van Buren, Me., for interment. The Rev. James Skelly and the Rev. Romeo Lapiere will accompany the body to Van Buren.

Father Michaud attended St. Mary's college at Van Buren and enrolled at St. Mary's Manor, Langhorne, Pa., in 1923. In 1925 he entered the Marist college at Washington, D. C. He interrupted his studies for the priesthood to engage in public life. Father Michaud was elected mayor of Van Buren and subsequently to the Maine House of Representatives, serving one year in each post.

Resuming his priestly studies, Father Michaud entered Notre Dame seminary at New Orleans, where he was ordained by Archbishop Rummel in May, 1942. Father Michaud was appointed assistant pastor of St. Rose de Lima church here and in August, 1943, was made assistant pastor of St. Charles' church at Lafourche.

DRAFT RATIONING

players in the industries in which the agencies are concerned. These endorsed requests will be sent straight to state draft directors to accept the endorsements.

Selective service orders to all men under 26 with occupational deferments, except farm deferments, to report for pre-induction physicals unless they have been physically examined within the last 90 days does not mean these men necessarily are being put in I-A immediately.

Hershey told the state directors such registrants may be retained in 2-A or 2-B even after the examination and the action "is designed to accelerate the processing for induction of those who will become available for military service and to provide the director and employers with information regarding those who are not acceptable for military service."

All occupational deferments had previously been ordered reviewed in conformance with President Roosevelt's recommendation February 26. But today Hershey instructed local boards to review and reconsider the classifications of registrants under 26 before proceeding to reconsider older registrants. This applies to classes 3-A, the rapidly declining class for dependency, class 2-A, 2-B, 2-C and 3-C which include among them all occupational deferments, including agriculture.

May Reclassify at Once
The provision regarding expiration dates of deferments does not mean sudden cancellation of all occupational stays. But does mean that whenever a local board reaches a deferred man under 26 in its review in agriculture, it may reclassify him at once regardless of how much longer his deferment would have run.

McNutt's action as war manpower chairman, in setting up the super-committee was believed to provide a solution for the manpower crisis precipitated by the army's sweeping demand for virtually all-able-bodied men under 26.

McNutt allowed just three days for government agencies to say how many men in each industry they want deferred as essential and irreplaceable.

The government agency in charge of each industry will present to the new committee by March 27 a list of the "must" industries under its jurisdiction, and a proposed budget of deferments for each. The war production board will thus act as sponsor for munitions industries, the office of defense transportation for railroads and shipping, and so on.

With all these claims before it, the new committee will decide whether the industries named actually are "must" activities, will fix a total maximum number of deferments to be granted, and will whittle down the demands of each agency to match the maximum thus fixed.

Each of the agencies concerned will have a membership on the new body. Thus WPB will participate in the decision on ODT's deferments, and vice versa.

Close Scrutiny Planned
In addition to the agencies regularly entitled to membership on the full WMC panel, the new committee will include the office of the rubber director, who will act in behalf of the synthetic rubber and tire producers, the solid fuels administration, which will act for coal mining, and the ODT.

McNutt indicated the committee would scrutinize closely each request for deferments. "We are asking what particular activities are so vital that they cannot let their men go into the army," he stated. "There will be very few of them."

would go a long way toward solving current problems. Provides for Conscription Nelson termed "very interesting" a bill by Representative Luce, Republican, Connecticut, to provide for the conscription for noncombat duty of 4-E and men between 35 and 45. He also discussed the production situation with the Senate banking committee, telling it that the load on industry is about at the peak.

"The weight of airplanes is increasing, also we need more and more landing craft, radio, radar—especially air-borne radar," he said.

As for man power, he said in some industries, such as foundries, there is a great deal of concern about man power.

Landing craft and radar are among a group of highly selected industries which the army, until today's change of view, had contended should be the only ones to get deferments of men under 26. The others include synthetic rubber, 100-octane gasoline, tires and tubes, high tenacity rayon, certain submarine plants and certain plants making secret weapons.

Industry Court of Appeals As outlined by informed sources, the interagency committee which the man power commission proposes to create would act somewhat as a court of appeals for industries which contend they must have draft deferments for men under 26.

This was said to be the plan: The government agency responsible for each industry would obtain from the companies under its jurisdiction a list of the men for whom deferment was desired, and would act as advocate for the industry in the committee sessions here.

WPB would act, for instance, as sponsor for landing craft, synthetic rubber, high-octane gasoline, Interior Secretary Cokes, as solid fuels administrator would sponsor coal mining. The office of defense transportation would be advocate for railroads, and so on.

CHINESE ADMIRAL SEES SUBCHASERS (The Associated Press) Miami, Fla., March 24.—Rear Admiral Liu Ten-Fu of China, whose entire navy has been destroyed or captured by the Japanese, inspected the facilities of the navy subchaser training center here Friday.

China's present naval force of several thousand men is engaged in minelaying and similar activities, he reported. Its former navy was made up of small and medium-sized vessels.

The admiral and his aids, Commander Yang Yung-Chung and Lieutenant Hsu Shih-Fu, expressed "great satisfaction" with anti-submarine equipment they saw here. The group will leave for Washington later this week.

AIRLINES TO RECEIVE NINE MORE PLANES (The Associated Press) Washington, March 24.—Nine 21-passenger airplanes will be turned back to the airlines by the war department soon, it was reported, bringing to 34 the number of ships returned. The planes will be allocated among the airlines by the civil aeronautics board.

The 17 domestic airlines operated 358 airplanes before the war. The military services took over 193 to meet emergency transportation needs, and at various times have returned a total of 25.
